

Merchants Win Delay In Elm Square Project Decision

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Although the town manager recommends the selectmen go along with federal plans to reconstruct part of Main Street as part of the long-awaited Elm Square redesign project, the selectmen will wait another week before making their decision.

Members of the Central Business District committee, involved in planning the project from the beginning, won that delay Monday night after voicing their concern that the street reconstruction would hurt downtown businesses.

Representatives of the CBD and Andover Chamber of Commerce are expected to appear before the selectmen Monday night to protest the more extensive project proposed by the federal government. Local businessmen fear that the extent of the work which would close Main Street for a period of time would be harmful to business and inconvenient to both merchants and customers.

Funding for the project to improve the appearance and traffic flow in Elm Square and redo Main Street from the square to Chestnut Street will come from both the federal and state governments. Town officials hope to see work on the project begin this summer, and completed by the holiday season.

But federal inspectors recently suggested a last-minute change in plans for Main Street: Instead of simply replanning and resurfacing the street, they recommend full-depth reconstruction. That would mean digging about 18 inches, down to the old cobblestones beneath the street, and possibly removing the cobblestones.

"They feel relatively strongly that if we're going to do it, we might as well do it right," Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark said Friday, after meeting with state officials. "We would then have a road surface that wouldn't have to be disturbed again for another 30 to 40 years. This is how they feel, and they're paying for it."

At the same time, Bay State Gas company would install a new gas main beneath the street, Clark added.

Reconstruction would cost the town approximately $2,000 for an additional engineering study, which would be done by Pavlo Engineering of Boston, the manager explained.

The selectmen have indicated some opposition to the street reconstruction, largely because it would cost more tax dollars, and the town's Public Works director does not believe the extra work is necessary.

Selectmen are also worried that the more extensive work would tie up the downtown area for a longer time, as the CBD members told them Monday night.

Clark said the project would take approximately three months to complete, from early August to "before the snow flies." The work would mean closing off Main Street for periods of time, and diverting traffic onto School Street. "It will be a major nuisance while the work is going on."

CBD members argued that the new plan, requiring an extra month to month and a half, would hurt downtown businesses more than the original plan. "The reconstruction would hurt businesses financially, and would legitimately knock

Shawsheen Principal To Be Transferred To Sanborn

By Linda S. Corbett

The Andover School Committee Tuesday night will be publicly apprised of some administrative changes much of the town has already heard about via the grapevine.

Isabelle Dobbie, principal of the soon-to-be-closed Shawsheen School, will be taking over at Sanborn School, come September, while Jack Woodward, who was transferred from South to Sanborn last fall, will become assistant principal at West Elementary.

Iora Alexander, who has been assistant principal at West, will return to classroom teaching.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said this week that the changes are a direct result of the closing down of another school, and the simple mathematics of having more administrators than schools.

"I wish we had more schools," he said. He said he had sent a note to the school committee telling them of the impending changes. Transfers are an administrative matter and do not require a vote of that board.

Seifert said he felt Sanborn is a good spot for Dobbie, who was the only elementary principal not to be transferred last year when Doherty School was closed. He said it seemed "inappropriate" for her to go back to West, where she was prior to coming to Shawsheen, because "she is the kind of administrator who likes to know the name of each student."

He said Dobbie was "hurt" about the closing of Shawsheen, but that she rallied with the determination that "Sanborn's going to be the best elementary school in Andover."

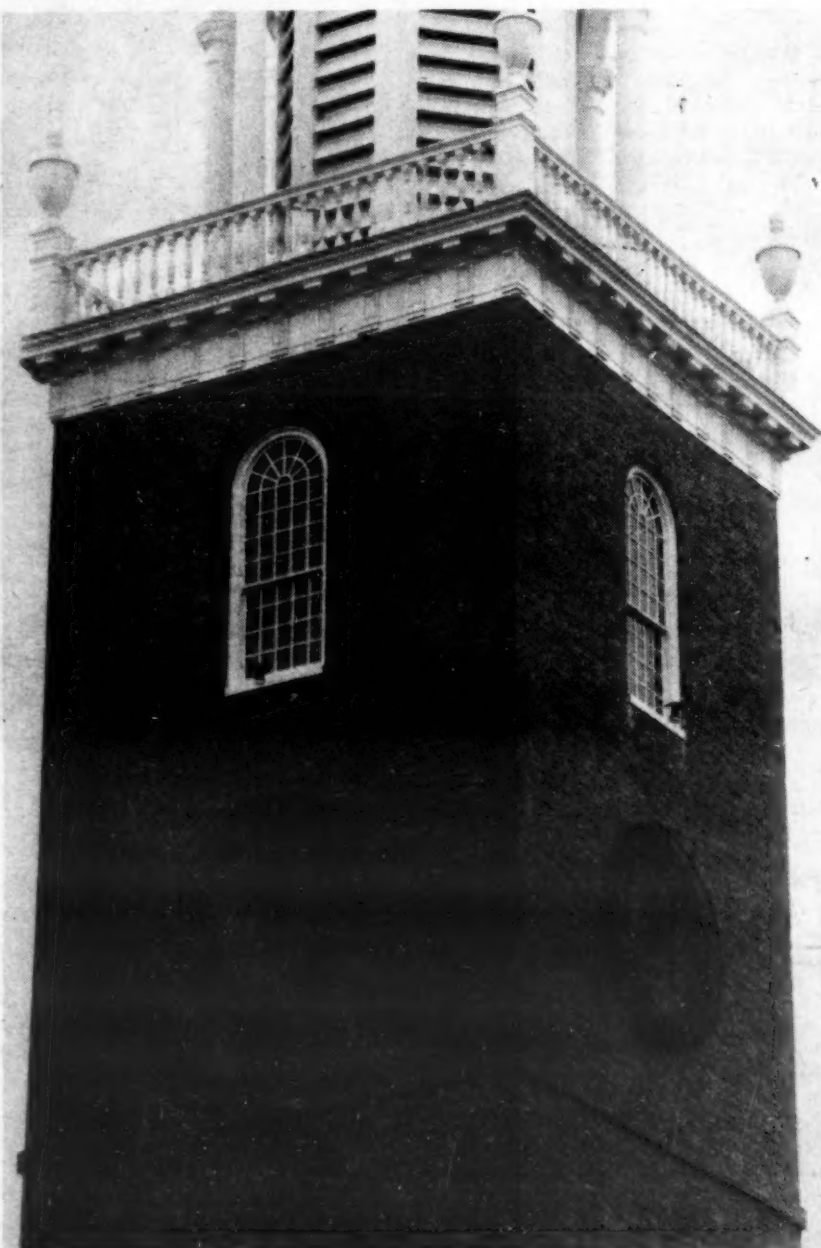

Woodward's initial reaction was also one of "hurt," Seifert said, but he too was quick to reply with "I want you to know I'm going to do a very fine job."

"He has the type of personality to do that," Seifert said. "I was truly impressed."

Seifert added that Woodward is a "very capable administrator," and that he has already begun working with Jack Coyle at West on the transition.

While Seifert had the "very dismal as-

Time Out

The clock atop the Memorial Bell tower at Phillips Academy has been out of commission for some time, its hands halted at about 11 o'clock. Reportedly it is difficult to get parts for the clock, particularly the hands which are made of wood. Many persons used the landmark as a valuable time guide over the years and remain hopeful that the academy will be able to effect some repairs soon.

Seifert said it is his feeling that "user fees" are not satisfactory "over the long haul," but are acceptable tempo- rarily if they're the only way to save certain school programs.

The school department would not handle paid bus service directly, he went on, but will meet with the various PTO's and principals to help them make their own arrangements with the drivers. He said no money would come into the schools; it would be paid di- rectly to the drivers instead.

Given Week To Get Streets In Order

he board of selectmen spent most of Monday night meeting grappling a record number of street accep- es, and finally agreed to give de- pers a one-week grace period to plete needed improvements on e streets.

ach year there are usually three to developers who ask town meeting cept their streets as public ways, town manager estimates. But this t, 28 developers have placed their ets on the warrant.

he developers and abutters ap- ed before the selectmen for public ings on each street Monday night. director of Public Works presented t of needed improvements for each et to the board, and the abutters ed their suggestions and complaints e lists.

he board had planned to require that work be completed for each street by the time of the hearing, or the streets would not be presented to town meeting.

However, on Monday night, Select- men Edward Harris and Jerry Silver- man were willing to accept uncompleted work, as long as it could be finished by town meeting.

But Chairman Norma Gammon and Donn Byrne insisted that the work be completed before they accepted a street. With Susan Poore abstaining due to a possible conflict of interest, the board agreed to a compromise: the work must be completed by next Mon- day night, May 18, nine days before town meeting begins.

If problems on any of the streets are uncorrected by next Monday, those streets will not be presented to town meeting this year "under any circum- stances," Gammon said. "I think the developers have learned that we're not fooling around with this stuff."

New Construction On White Site To Begin

With the Planning Board's approval, an Andover developer will break ground for the first of 11 $200,000 to $350,000 homes in a 10.5 acre subdivision at the corner of Andover Street and Argilla Road later this month.

The planners approved definitive plans for the "Heritage Estates" subdivision last Thursday night. Builder James R. Butler of Andover Building and Development Corp. said he plans to break ground for the first home by mid-May, and hopes to have it completed by mid-September.

Solar Energy Week Events Continue Here

A slide show on solar energy will be presented at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Memorial Hall Library, by the Merrimack Valley Solar Energy Association, while a workshop on low-cost/no-cost energy savings around the home will be held, same time, at the Lawrence Regional Vocational School in West Andover.

The events, along with the appearance of the Solar Bus at the Andover Savings Bank Saturday morning, May 16, are part of the Solar Action Week, sponsored by the State Office of Energy Resources (OER) and the energy association.

Displays in local libraries, school projects and workshops and solar energy and how the average person can put it to use have been going on all week in the area, and will continue through Saturday.

The Solar Bus, sometimes with State Energy Secretary Joseph S. Fitzpatrick aboard, is an all-alcohol-powered solar display school bus. It runs on 100 percent alcohol made from grain and waste paper.

Open House

The Spar and Spindle Girl Scout Council will hold an open house, Sunday, May 17, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Camp Maude Eaton on Abbott Street in Andover.

Parents and girls who will have completed the first through eighth grades by June are invited to meet Mrs. Joanne Scharmer, day camp director, and some of her staff and tour the facilities. The Girl Scout Council will operate two, two week-day camp sessions from June 29 to July 24, daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The camp provides bus transportation from Andover, Billerica, Lawrence, Methuen, South Lowell, Tewksbury and Wilmington, provided that there are six girls at a stop.

Butler must wait for a 20-day appeals period to end before he can begin construction.

The developer has purchased the land from former selectman Sidney P. White. It is part of an 18-acre parcel that White last year planned to sell to Andover builder Wynwood Associates, to be developed as the town's first townhouse development.

However, that plan required an amendment to the zoning bylaw which would create a townhouse cluster zone, and an amendment proposed by White was defeated by special town meeting last November. White's sale agreement with Wynwood expired at the end of last year. The planners have since developed their own version of a townhouse cluster zoning amendment, which will be presented to annual town meeting later this month.

Under the planners' proposed amendment, the Andover Street parcel is the only one in town that currently meets all requirements for a townhouse zone, which include proximity to a business district, parcel size, and access to town water and sewer services.

Butler's subdivision plan was approved with only one modification: town officials recommended that drainage pipes the developer will build should be 18 inches, rather than 15 inches as originally proposed. The drainage pipes will run along Andover Street and empty into a brook across Argilla Road to carry runoff from all 11 homes.

Atty. Larry Mazonson of Malden, representing the builder, said the subdivision would consist of "luxury-type houses in the higher-price brackets" built around a cul-de-sac to be called Heritage Lane.

The builder will leave as much of the natural landscape intact as possible, Mazonson said, including wetlands area now under Conservation Commission control located at the rear of the parcel. A border of trees will screen the homes from Andover Street.

The subdivision parcel does not include the duck pond at the corner of Argilla Road, White's home and a barn, which the former selectman says he has taken off

Articles Supported After Funds Found

Unexpended funds totalling $200,000 left over from last year will allow the selectmen to approve more warrant articles than they had expected, and retain three public safety positions they were planning to cut.

The funds are left over from bonded projects, the town manager explained, and can be used to fund bonded projects on this year's warrant, such as the $229,000 Andover Street repaving and $75,000 water main extension for Dundas Avenue.

Both projects represent one-time expenses, Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark told the selectmen Monday night, and the funds will eventually be returned to the town. Using the funds for new projects will simply delay the time that the surplus will be lapsed back into free cash, while freeing thousands of dollars to fund additional warrant articles, Clark said.

So, as they wrapped up their budget discussions for the year, the selectmen agreed to fund one police patrolman's position that would have been cut, as well as one police lieutenant in place of a patrolman. The Finance Committee will also support that position.

The police chief recently told the board that he would prefer a lieutenant to a patrolman, because the patrolmen are without supervision on some shifts. A police captain's position will also be funded.

Only Selectman Donn Byrne opposed the manager's recommendation that the lieutenant be funded: "I'm not going to do it," he maintained. "I'll put men on the street, but I'm not going to put them in brass. I'd swap the captain for more patrolmen, too."

Clark told the board that there are now enough funds to retain two firefighter positions that the selectmen had supported as well.

The manager also recommended that the board approve an article transferring $131,300 in 1980 reimbursement funds to the Conservation Commission. The commission hopes to use those funds to help purchase the development rights to the Turner and Dargoonian farms, as proposed in two separate articles.

The finance committee has voted to support the Dargoonian proposal, but not the Turner farm purchase, Clark told the board.

The selectmen, however, decided to delay voting on the conservation commission articles until they meet with commission member Dina Hammond for additional information on the Turner farm.

The manager said Friday that he plans to recommend the board also support a $30,000 study of the groundwater around the site of the town's former landfill, requested by the board of health. The selectmen did not discuss that article Monday night, but previously indicated that the study is a low priority under this year's budget.

The selectmen voted in favor of supporting $100,000 for the town's pension fund, and $2,200 for a Civil Defense radio communications tower.

When the selectmen finished their budget discussion, they found themselves in disagreement with the FinComm on only one item: the addition of a personnel administrator to be shared by the town and schools. The town's share of the administrator's salary would be $5,000.

The finance committee voted to fund the position with money from the budget for legal counsel, because they believe the administrator would "save his or her salary in legal expenses," the manager explained. "And it is important for the town and schools to cooperate whenever possible, instead of duplicating services." Clark supports the position.

However, the board maintained their opposition to hiring the administrator. Selectman Edward Harris repeated his contention that "this is the worst possible time to add a new person — we've gotten along without this position for 50 years."

Saving Shattuck Buildings Now Possible Historians Feel

After more than five years of trying, Historical Commission members believe they have finally found a way to save the historic Shattuck farm buildings, which are still standing in the West Andover Industrial Tech Park.

Commission members are now "anxious" for town meeting to approve the zoning change that could save the buildings with a "yes" vote on Article 19 on the annual warrant.

Philip K. Allen, chairman of the commission, said during a public hearing before the Planning Board Monday night that the three buildings could be moved to a 50,000 square-foot, triangular piece of land at the junction of the old and new River Roads.

But it would be "most difficult" to sell the buildings to a potential developer if that land remained zoned Industrial D — the most restrictive industrial zone in town. Instead, Allen said, the land should be rezoned to Industrial G, the least restrictive industrial zone.

That rezoning would allow the buildings to be used for personal and consumer services, retail sales, or a school, all with a Zoning Board of Appeals permit. Director of Community Development and Planning Rhys Kear explained.

Kear said if the parcel is rezoned, Arkwright would agree to stricter design requirements and fewer permitted uses than are normally allowed in an Industrial G zone: the new zoning would in fact be specially tailored to the lot and would include "the best" of both the I-D and I-G requirements, he said.

In addition, the historical commission would retain the right to approve the use and the design of the buildings, along with the planning board and ZBA reviews.

buildings now stand belongs to Digital Equipment Corp., and Arkwright-Boston Insurance Co., developers of the entire park, are obligated to move the buildings off Digital's property, an Arkwright representative explained.

"This we think is our last chance to save these buildings," Steve Kasnet of R.M. Bradley Co., industrial real estate agents for Arkwright, indicated. "Without the zoning change, we would be forced to relocate the buildings or demolish them, and we have no land to relocate them onto."

Kasnet said the agreement between the developer and the historical commission would stand for one year from the time of the rezoning. If a buyer could not be found for the buildings in that time, the land would simply revert back to the stricter Industrial D zone, and Arkwright's obligation to help save the buildings would be fulfilled.

The reversion of the zoning after one year is not included in the warrant, but will be presented as an amendment to the article on the floor of town meeting, Allen said.

"The year would give us sufficient time to find a user," he added. "It is the only solution we can find for preserving these buildings, and we are very anxious to do that."

Previous plans to reuse the buildings proved "fruitless," Allen said, including a plan to move the buildings and use one as a bank. The Board of Appeals denied a zoning variance for that proposal after it was opposed by abutters.

He Wheeled In A New Understanding Of Handicapped

By Sue Aucella Deacon

For those who move through life in a wheelchair, being accepted by the world may sometimes be the greatest challenge they face. Recently, a young paraplegic veteran brought that message to fourth-graders at the Bancroft School, so that they really isn't so different from them.

I hope to show them that we're really different — it's just a case of being accepted," Jim Campbell, 34, of Reading explained before meeting with the children in a question-and-answer session. The point is to accept us for what we are, not for what we're sitting on."

Campbell spoke at Bancroft as part of a four-part pilot program called "Understanding Handicaps." Members of the 766 Over Parent Advisory Council prepared lectures and activities to help fourth-grade students understand what it is like to live with a physical limitation. Earlier in the year, the students participated in sessions on blindness and deafness. The final part of the program will deal with mental retardation.

Learning About Handicaps

"Kids at this age just soak this stuff right in and take it home," parent Sandy Chateaufneuf said with enthusiasm. Her son Eddie, 11, attends Bancroft in his wheelchair. "It is because of Eddie that I am here," Chateaufneuf explained.

The Massachusetts Easter Seal Society helped coordinate the physical limitations lessons, and Anne Schofield, coordinator of volunteers for the society, arranged Campbell's visit to Bancroft. "It is especially appropriate that the school is presenting this program now, because this is the International Year of the Disabled," Schofield pointed out.

Each of the four topics is divided into two 90-minute sessions. During the recent session, Chateaufneuf discussed wheelchairs and the architectural barriers that are sometimes difficult for the wheelchair-bound to navigate.

The students discussed the Andover buildings that are impossible for people in wheelchairs to enter — the post office and town hall, for example — as well as the buildings that are accessible to those in wheelchairs — the library and the new block of stores on Main Street.

After watching a short film that shows the difficulties a woman newly released from the hospital encounters in her wheelchair, the students took turns learning how to use crutches, a walker and a wheelchair, under the supervision of Kate Robb, a physical therapist from New England Memorial Hospital.

As they maneuvered their way around the corridors of the fourth loft in wheelchairs or hopped along on crutches, the students got a small taste of how it feels to rely on special equipment to move around.

"Which one was the hardest to use?" Chateaufneuf later asked the class.

"The wheelchair!" they responded in unison.

Campbell's appearance was both the highlight and the closing segment of the physical limitations section. The North Reading native lost the use of his legs 14 years ago when, as a 20-year-old serviceman, he fell two stories and broke his back. He was laying wires when the accident happened.

Today, Campbell lives with his wife in a Reading home designed to accommodate his wheelchair. He drives a specially-equipped van, works as a computer operator, swims, rides a pony cart, and is active in the Reading 4-H Club, teaching youngsters how to care for horses. He also plans to attend Boston University's School of Journalism starting next fall.

The students, sitting on the floor at his feet, greeted Campbell with obvious interest and enthusiasm: the air was filled with raised hands after every answer. They groaned loudly when the session ended, and many of the children gathered around Campbell to ask for his autograph.

The soft-spoken Campbell answered every question — which ranged from how much his van cost ($2,500) to how he keeps his wheelchair from rusting in the shower (he uses a special shower chair) — with straightforward good humor.

"Do you have trouble going to sleep?" one child asked him.

Campbell answered, "If I have a cup of coffee after nine o'clock, I might," he added, drawing a laugh from the teachers in the room.

The children asked if it was hard for him to find a job, get dressed, go swimming, go to the store? In each case he explained that yes, it was difficult at first, but he learned to adjust — and so did his family and friends.

Campbell said he spent nearly two years after his accident in a rehabilitation hospital, but the "hardest part" of his adjustment was going home. "It was very easy in the hospital, where I was with people like me, in wheelchairs. The toughest thing was to go out into the world — with people like you."

"It took me a good six months to get my head on straight after I left the hospital, but my family helped a lot," Campbell told the class. "A lot of people were afraid to talk to me as a person — they were afraid to hurt my feelings because I was in a wheelchair."

"But they learned," he added with a smile. "Most of my friends now don't even notice the wheelchair."

"Before you were in a wheelchair, were you afraid to talk to someone in a wheelchair?" one girl asked.

Campbell paused for a moment. "It's funny — I never remember seeing anyone in a wheelchair before," he replied. "Fifteen years ago, people in wheelchairs were in hospitals or institutions, or they stayed at home."

"That's what's so different about today. We're getting out more, we're more visible. It's changing because people like you are accepting us."

Campbell seems to have shaped his life

Wormwood Feels 'Proud'

By Linda S. Corbett

Phil Wormwood heard from his friends last Friday night, and if what they had to say was true, he said, he felt pretty proud of himself.

Of his 30 years at Andover High, Wormwood said he has "absolutely no regrets," and he thanked his colleagues for their cooperation and applauded them for their "professionalism."

"You can hold your heads very high," he told the gathering in his honor, then left them with a little advice: "Stay flexible and keep your minds open. A lot of things are going to happen in the '80's."

A host of teachers, administrators and school committeemen, past and present, and friends, turned out for the affair at the Indian Ridge Country Club.

Former Christ Church Rector Ed Pike came out of his own retirement in Maine to give the invocation, and long-time school committeeman Bill Doherty recalled Wormwood as a high school student.

Former Supt. Edward Erickson, who promoted Wormwood from teacher to assistant principal in 1958 and principal in 1962, couldn't attend, but sent along his praise for Wormwood's "faithful service" and "steady growth."

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert noted that

Wormwood

Wormwood "always gives the person the benefit of the doubt" and that he has always seen things ahead of his time.

He quoted Mary Wesson, director of the new alternative sentencing program, as saying that "Phil Wormwood is the type of person who never allowed a child to fall."

"That is so very, very appropriate," Seifert said to Wormwood. "There's not a person who knows you who would doubt for a minute that that was true."

After June 30, Seifert went on, "never look back. You have given more to public education than it can ever give to you."

"You're a beautiful person," he concluded.

School Chairman Joseph Finn said the school committee would "be thrilled if you'd come back in September," but he got a negative nod in reply.

"We all know how much the high school is losing when you retire," he went on. "We don't want to see you go."

Wormwood had not been perfect, Finn said, "not by a long shot. You have had your critics."

"But through it all you've been you," Finn said, and he went on to praise Wormwood for his "moral and social values and the ability to convey them to others."

Those qualities, Finn said, have never been more important than in the last decade: "When we look at the times we've gone through and the situations we've gone through...we were pleased to know that Phil Wormwood was at the helm. You had the ability to steer a course through rough waters. You're one heckuva individual and we're going to miss you very much."

Brian Bresnahan, a former vice-president of the student body, returned from the University of Rhode Island with a good report about the work fellow Andover High students are doing there.

"We had a very strong academic base in Andover," he said, and he praised Wormwood for allowing his teachers to be innovative, and for his "unique understanding of the students."

Company of America.

Besides her numerous academic and professional activities, Dr. McCarthy is the author of several articles and research studies which have appeared in the Journal of the Optical Society of America, the Physics Review and the Journal of Applied Physics among others.

J. Everett Collins, endowed with a good voice and a dedication to music, is being recognized for giving generously of his time and skill to encourage many in the Merrimack Valley to appreciate and experience the beauty of music and the joy of singing together.

A choral consultant for the Andover Public School System since 1963, Collins has been singing for three quarters of a century. Born in Andover in 1894, he was a boy soloist at Christ Church and South Church in Andover and later at St. Paul's and First Unitarian in Brookline.

He returned to South Church as choir director and soloist and then became choir director at Calvary Church in Lawrence for the next 50 years.

In 1926 Collins organized the Andover Male Choir and three years later founded the Andover Choral Society. On every Christmas since 1929 the Andover Choral Society, with Collins, has delighted area audiences.

Collins, who was employed in the insurance business from 1919 to 1955, has been actively involved in community affairs. He was a member of the Andover School Committee from 1928-34 and an Andover selectman from 1935-55. He served as a state representative in the Massachusetts Legislature from 1941-55, and was president of the Andover Boosters from 1950-60.

A current resident of Andover, he married Elizabeth Carol Abbott. They raised a family of four sons—John, James, Roger and George.

Milton Greenberg, corporate director and a leading figure in geophysics research, is being honored for his outstanding contributions to business and science.

A native of Cateret, N.J., and current

Andover resident, Greenberg has been president and chief executive officer of Geophysics Corporation of America (GCA) in Bedford since 1959. He was one of the founders of GCA, a manufacturer of industrial production equipment and scientific and analytical equipment. The eighth grade baseball team was in Methuen on Wednesday, May 6, where they successfully defeated Methuen's East Junior High School. Billy Weidman had strikeouts and only allowed three hits the entire game. Danny Sheehan, Jeff Poore, Shane Smith and Brian Finneran demonstrated excellent offense to help bring the 9-5 win. Also playing for the WJH eighth grade baseball team are Bill Lane, Bob Charland, Chris Comparato, Paul Lambers, Mark Doherty, Kraig Burzlaff, Austin Henderson, Jamie Bernardin, Tom Rosback, Tom Mayerison and David Argiroalos, under the direction of Coach George Sullivan and manager Christine McCarthy.

The girls' softball team was victorious over Brooks School in a recent game, but it was followed by a disappointing 5-6 loss to East Junior High.

Friday, May 8, the boys' track team, under the direction of Jay Darrin, lost in an exciting meet against Tewksbury.

Receives Grant To Smith

Northern Essex Community College student Carol Lasquade of Andover is one of only ten women across the country selected to be an Ada Comstock Scholar at Smith College next year.

A grant from the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation makes it possible for a small group of women whose children receive public assistance to earn degrees from Smith by providing funds for payments to landlords, fuel companies and child care centers, as well as tuition costs.

Carol, who will be graduating with high honors from Northern Essex in June, will receive about $12,000 a year in financial assistance while she completes her bachelor's degree at Smith.

A native of Saugus, Carol attended Saugus High School. She worked for an insurance company in Boston following graduation. After her marriage ended in divorce in 1978, she and her son, Matthew Burke, moved in with her parents, Guy and Vera Lasquade, formerly of Saugus, who now live in Andover. "I realized after I went back home that I didn't have any skills at all," Carol said. "The jobs I could get were tedious and boring and only paid the minimum wage."

Carol, who is 28, began working at the Community Day Care Center in Lawrence and enjoyed working with the children. She decided to go back to school and enrolled in the Deafness Communication Program at Northern Essex. An excellent student, Carol will be graduating with high honors in June. "I've received so much positive reinforcement here at Northern Essex," Carol said. "Everyone is trying to help you reach your full potential."

Carol's goal is to become a tutor or counselor for deaf children. She will be majoring in Psychology at Smith College and hopes to go on for her Master's degree and ultimately her Ph.D. "I'm looking forward to the challenge of it," Carol commented, talking about her education,

Preschool Has New Director

Ballardvale Preschool announces a change of leadership at the close of this school year. Phyllis Poor, who has been the director for the last four years, will be retiring and Lorna McIntyre, who has been involved in the school since its inception ten years ago, will be the new director. Laurel Hansen, Karen Sullivan, June Meckel, Kathy Romig, and Patricia Dixon will remain on the staff. Gail Ward is leaving after seven years of service.

Ballardvale Preschool, 23 Clark Road, offers four separate classes for three and four year olds as well as special needs preschoolers. There are morning and afternoon sessions and the school operates five days a week. The school has an active volunteer program involving parents as well as grandparents. The school has been trying to maintain a large scholarship program begun by Smith-Purdon aid in 1978.

Once again this year the school will be offering a preschool summer program. Ruth Stebbins will be the organizer/teacher. Information on registration for the summer session or for the 1982 school year can be had by calling the office at the Ballard Vale United Church.

There will be a Homecoming Breakfast on Saturday, May 23, from 8 to 10 a.m. with the proceeds going toward a $1500 scholarship goal.

Students Place High In Spelling

Students at both East and West Junior High participated in the First Annual Inter-School Spelling Bee in Methuen. Other participants included Michael Melia and Kara Wolnik, West Junior High School, and Katrina Smith, East Junior High. Advisors to the competition were Nora Harrison, West Junior High, and Karen Burke and Sue Hutchinson, East Junior High. Each competitor received a certificate and a medallion later in the day at a luncheon at Bishops.

Clown Town To Be Held Saturday

THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 14, 1981

It's almost time for the largest Andover affair of the year—Clown Town! Andover members have been working for months in preparation for the event which is being held Saturday, May 16, from 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. at the Andover Playstead.

Chairmen are Nancy Buscema, Ann Hamilton, Maryly Hoyt and Sharin Luti.

The Big Top Show this year will feature Stromberg and Cooper, "A Mime Expanding Experience," presented on May 16 at East Junior High auditorium. There will be three shows at 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. This is an entertaining and educational program created especially for elementary and middle school students. "A Mime Expanding Experience" introduces the world of pantomime, unlocks the creativity of the imagination and rekindles the often-forgotten excitement of pretending. Through original music, comedy and enthusiastic participation, the students actually create an exciting learning experience.

Friendly Visitor Meeting

The Andover Friendly Visitor Program, sponsored by the Council on Aging and under the direction of coordinator Gwen Smith, will present a special program at The Haven, Andover's senior center, on Essex Street, May 28, from 3 to 4:30 p.m. This orientation meeting is designed to give further support to those many residents of the town who are currently volunteering as Friendly Visitors, and to introduce to new and prospective volunteers this rewarding service opportunity.

Principal among the activities of the afternoon will be a talk by Thomas Ross entitled, "Training Volunteers to Recognize and Work With the Emotional Needs of the Elderly." Ross, a licensed psychiatric social worker at the Greater Lawrence Mental Health Center, received his Master's Degree in psychiatric social work from the University of Buffalo, and is currently involved in consultation, in-service training, group counselling and home visiting at the Geriatric Center in Lawrence. Acquainting the Friendly Visitor with the special ways in which help is needed and in recognizing areas of concern in their regular visiting, the Friendly Visitor is enabled to become a more supportive friend to the elderly shutin. The meeting is open to the public. For further information, call Gwen Smith.

Exhibit

On Monday evening, May 18, from 7-9 p.m., students in the elementary school gifted and talented program will host an exhibit of their work in the cafeteria of West Junior High School. Included in this special evening will be the presentation of a ceramic mural containing over 90 buildings of the town of Andover. Joseph Finn, chairman of the Andover School Committee, will receive this mural on behalf of the schools.

Program Director Janis Baron says the public is invited to attend, both to view the students' work and to learn more about Andover's program for gifted and talented children in grades 4-6. Admission is free.

Handicapped

around the belief that "you can adapt if you have to. You can either lay in bed, or you can get up and do what everybody else does," he explained matter-of-factly.

But sometimes a positive attitude is not enough, especially in a world not designed for wheelchairs. "There have been a few times when I've almost felt like knocking down a partition in a restaurant or a movie," he admitted. "After a while you do get a little upset, you want to scream at somebody. But things are getting better."

Campbell noted that Andover appears to be several steps ahead of Reading in eliminating architectural barriers, and said he "might be starting on that, as far as changing some things in Reading."

Living in a wheelchair does not keep him from enjoying a variety of activities, Campbell told the children, even if he does blow his tires regularly ("I'm outside a lot, so I really beat them up," he explained with a grin). He likes to be with people who are "on their feet," he said, because then "I tend to forget about the wheelchair, and they forget about it."

Campbell demonstrated a "wheelie" for the class, tilting back and balancing on the rear wheels of his chair. But he explained carefully that he learned that skill "not as a game, but to use to get over curbs. I flipped over many a time learning to balance. It took me quite a while to learn — but it does come in handy."

He stays in good shape just by moving around every day, he said in reply to a question. "Normally I push this chair 10 to 20 miles a day. Then there's transferring myself from here to the driver's seat of the van, and in and out of bed — that's a lot of lifting and pushing." But during the winter, when he is less active, Campbell said he sometimes works out with weights to keep his arms strong.

One of the most thoughtful questions came from a little girl who asked Campbell, "Is being in your wheelchair a handicap to you?"

"No," he answered softly. Then he smiled broadly. "I'm here. And I go wherever I want to go. It gets a little inconvenient at times, but as far as being a handicap — no."

The fourth-graders polled after Campbell's appearance unanimously agreed that he was "interesting": "It's not every day you meet someone in a wheelchair and hear about what they do," Christine Joseph, age 9, explained. "I learned a lot about architectural barriers."

"It's kind of strange that he can't feel anything in his legs," Donny Kearny, 9, added. "But I learned that he's not really different from other people."

Liza DiClemente, 9, had the last word before she ran outside to catch her bus. "I learned," she said, "that handicapped people are nice."

Helping Elders

Older people rank high among providers of services to the elderly. Older volunteers far outnumber paid workers at the nutrition sites which serve hot lunches to other older people (167 million meals in 1980).

Older volunteers also perform a high proportion of tasks in senior centers and community service facilities. In the nutrition program, about 256,000 volunteers serve, outnumbering the paid staff eight to one! Another 31,000 persons 60 and over volunteer their time to the 594 Area Agencies on Aging.

Happy Birthday, Addison!

The 50th birthday of Addison Gallery was blessed with clear blue skies and sunshine, allowing merrymakers to enjoy a day of art-filled activities. With exhibits and workshops going on all afternoon, students and guests had an opportunity to peruse exhibits and make their own works of art too. Photos clockwise, from above: Painting teacher Elaine Spatz-Rabinowitz and Gallery director Chris Cook cut the sculptured birthday cake; the Bread and Puppet Theatre and Phillips students parade down the lawn; Uncle Sam, on stilts, leads the way; Two-year-old Phoebe Lopes, Phillips Academy, plays a song on her kazoo; P.A. students Ann Coleman of Denver and Rich Kaplon of New York add mime talents to the afternoon; Student Paul Roche of New Haven, Conn., enjoys birthday cake late into the afternoon.

Elderly Want More More Protection From Condo Conversion

The selectmen's proposed condominium conversion bylaw does not offer the town's elderly residents the protection they want, a vocal and sometimes emotional crowd of senior citizens told the Planning Board last week.

Some residents therefore plan to draft an amendment to make the bylaw stronger and present it on the floor of town meeting later this month. Council on Aging President Thomas Powers reported Friday.

Older residents filled the Essex Street Theatre Building conference room to capacity last Thursday night during a public hearing called by the planners. Many were residents of the Washington Park complex on North Main Street, who have been living with the rumored threat of condominium conversion for months.

The bylaw, Article 43 in the warrant, proposes that developers who wish to convert apartment rental units into condominiums be required to apply for a special permit from the Zoning Board of Appeals. Apartment residents would then know their apartments might be sold, and would have up to three months to look for a new home while the special permit process was completed.

But the Council on Aging, representing Andover's senior citizens, had hoped for much tighter controls on condominium conversions. Powers told the planners, "You have an aroused elder population here," he said. "These people are up in arms."

Samuel Paris of Washington Park explained that the bylaw would be inadequate because there are no available apartments in Andover or surrounding towns for tenants forced to leave their apartments.

"Even a six month notice means nothing because there is nothing available," he said. "The problem is these people have no place to go. They shouldn't be allowed to convert unless we have a place to go."

The residents are "against conversion

100 percent," Paris said, "but if we can't fight it, we want something more lenient than getting out in 30 days. Even a year is nothing."

Chairman Frank McBride explained that the selectmen, not the planners, had written the proposed bylaw. "We certainly are not unsympathetic," he said. "Please don't think that we're the bad guys. But this is a position for the selectmen, not the planning board."

Planner Jerry Greer pointed out that there are no existing town laws restricting the conversion of rental units, and nothing to require owners to give their tenants adequate time to find new homes.

"If you vote yes on this, (apartment owners) at least have to go to the Zoning Board of Appeals, and there will be opportunities for public hearings," Greer said. "Currently, you don't have that protection."

Selectmen Chairman Norma Gammon explained Friday that the selectmen hoped the bylaw would "buy (apartment residents) some time to go out and find a place."

Marge Bradshaw of the League of Women Voters and former Selectman Sidney P. White suggested the residents draft an amendment requiring that tenants be given more notice. "If you stay within the framework of 43, and carefully word an amendment, you could resolve your problem," White said.

Most of the residents reconvened downstairs at the Senior Center after the hearing. Washington Park residents decided to retain an attorney to help them draw up an amendment and represent them at town meeting, Powers said.

Article 43 was drafted by Selectman Edward Harris, Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark, and Town Counsel Alfred Daniels. Clark said Friday that he doubts an amendment to the bylaw would be approved by town counsel.

"We really can't adopt a bylaw that is outside the police powers of the municipal-

Digital Neighbors Concerned About Remaining Acreage

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Digital Equipment Corp. has prepared detailed plans for its proposed plant on Frontage Road, but there is a question mark hovering over its proposal: If town meeting rezones the land in question for industrial use, what will happen to the remaining 75 acres?

That question was on the minds of about 20 abutters who attended a public hearing on Digital's proposal before the Planning Board Monday night, when they shot questions at the company's representatives for nearly two hours.

Article 36 on the town meeting warrant, inserted by the selectmen, asks voters to rezone 127 acres on Frontage Road from Single Residence C to Industrial D, the same zoning used for West Andover Industrial Tech Park.

But Digital would buy only 52 acres of the parcel from Andover developer Yvon Cormier, to house headquarters for its field service manufacturing group. The company would build a manufacturing operation, office building and warehouse on the site, housed in three buildings.

Dr. Lawrence Spiegel, chairman of the town's Industrial Development Commission, has said the site could become "a mini tech center." But abutters want more specific information on what industries might build on the acres next to Digital, and what impact the total development could have on the neighborhood.

"I think all of us feel that Digital is a nice company that wants to work with us," Janet Clarke of Carriage Hill Road told the planners. "But all of us here are concerned with the larger area. We want to know why has it been increased? Why isn't it just (Digital's) small package? It is literally in my front yard."

Susan Bennett of Central Street pointed out that when developer Arkwright-Boston Insurance requested rezoning for the Tech

McBride Leaving Planners

Planning Board Chairman Frank McBride will resign from the five-member board immediately upon the end of the upcoming town meeting, he announced yesterday. McBride said he has already submitted his resignation to the town manager.

The chairman said he is stepping down because of increasing business commitments. "There is just not enough time to do the job right," he explained. McBride is the owner of Travel Anywhere, an Elm Square travel agency.

He has been a member of the board for two and a half years, and was recently named chairman upon the resignation of former chairman Paul Teplitz. McBride is also active on the Central Business District committee.

Planner David N. Smith is currently serving as vice president of the board.

Architect's View Of Proposed Bank Front

Bank Plans $1.5M Renovation

At a "final look" reception Monday evening, a $1.5 million renovation plan for the BayBank Merrimack Valley on Main Street was unveiled by bank officers.

The renovation will include an upgrading of the front of the building in keeping with its architectural design and a four-story addition to the rear to include installation of two drive-up teller stations.

The work, which has the approval of the Andover planning and zoning boards, is expected to get underway this summer and continue through the fall of next year.

When completed the bank's administrative operations, now located in other branches, will be consolidated in the Andover building.

At the Monday reception, visitors were introduced to bank employees in their new garb, which will be the order of the day during the construction period. They will be wearing hard hats and jeans to go along with the construction mood.

The bank building was originally constructed in 1826 and was the Andover Bank, then the Andover National Bank until it merged with BayBank in 1964.

In the final analysis, the strength of the local economy and real estate market, the availability of a talented work pool and the importance associated with being a corporate resident of Andover were the deciding factors in the decision to do the Andover work, according to Trumbull C. Curtiss, chairman of the board.

The renovation will preserve the architectural integrity of the existing Main Street building. The remaining rear portions of the existing building, which were added on to the original structure over the years, will be demolished and a new addition will be built. The addition will continue the architectural rhythm of the original building on the exterior while providing the bank with modern, flexible, office space on the interior. Customer convenience will be greatly enhanced by the renovation of the existing branch bank, the installation of additional BayBanks X-Press 24 machines (BayBanks 24-hour-a-day automated teller machines) and the construction of a new remote drive-up facility.

Curtiss stated that even though the actual square footage of the new building will not be increased substantially, the new building will be far more efficient from an energy and operational point of view. He went on to say that the importance of Andover, both in the beauty of the town and its location adjacent to Routes 93 and 495, was the main factor in the bank's decision.

Development services for the BayBank Merrimack Valley project are being provided by Spaulding & Co., Inc. of Newton Lower Falls. The project architect is Add, Inc. of Cambridge. It is anticipated the project will be completed in the fall of 1982.

BayBank Merrimack Valley has $123 million in assets and is one of 11 member banks of the $3.2 billion BayBanks, Inc., Boston. The bank has 13 offices in northern Essex County, serving the Merrimack Valley cities, towns and villages of Lawrence, Haverhill, Andover, North Andover, Methuen, Georgetown, Bradford, Merrimack and Amesbury. It has 238 employees. Temporary headquarters for personnel involved in the renovation will be located at 100 Amesbury Street in Lawrence.

90 Seek Principal Position

Ninety men and women from as far away as Florida and Ohio applied for the high school principalship which will be vacant when Phil Wormwood retires in June.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said that number includes "some" from the present Andover staff.

He said the central office will review the applications and narrow the ranks down to 12 to 15 finalists, who will go through a series of interviews with administrators, staff and school committee. This process, Seifert says, allows him to see the candidates in action under a variety of circumstances.

The final recommendation for principal will come from Seifert, sometime next month, with a school committee vote necessary for the actual appointment.

In personnel action last week, the committee granted a second re-election to Carol Jacober, a foreign language teacher at East Jr. High, and first re-elections to Alice Friedenson, math teacher at the high school, Linda Isaacs, half-time German teacher at the high school, and Lynne Shapiro, math teacher at East Jr. High.

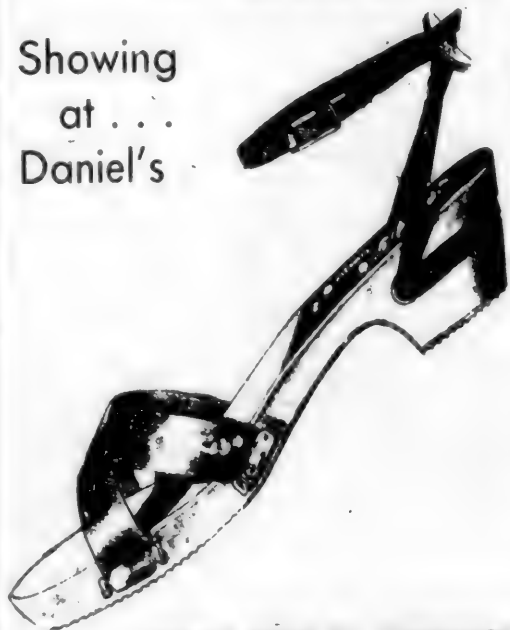

They also appointed Mary O'Leary a permanent social studies teacher at the high school and named Gail Kolbe intramural coordinator at West Jr. High for the spring term.

Decision Is Needed

Andover selectmen within the next week or so should once and for all decide whether the downtown reconstruction project should move ahead or not.

Referred to as the Elm Square project, the reconstruction involves Elm Square and the downtown area up through Chestnut street.

Until recently, the project was somewhat large in scope, but uncomplicated and possibly could have been completed within a short period of time, hopefully during the summer vacation months.

But, the federal government, which is underwriting a considerable portion of the project, re-examined the specifications and decided that the total project should be broader in scope and should include the digging up of Main street to a considerable depth to provide a firmer, more lasting base.

Obviously, the duration of the project is extended due to the greater amount of work required.

Now, local officials must decide whether to go along with the work as suggested.

Andover's merchants are naturally concerned.

The delay in the project planning and engineering will put off the starting date until August, should the plans and applications be accelerated through various channels.

Construction schedule would require about three months, if everything goes along all right. This would bring the inconvenience of dealing with construction work in the downtown area into the fall and early winter season, a time when most downtown stores are quite busy.

Traffic will be rerouted around the downtown area, using Central and School streets as primary arteries.

The selectmen, town manager and public works director have all examined the various ramifications of the total project and the time to make a final decision on accepting it or not is at hand.

Frankly, the Elm Square-downtown redesign and reconstruction has been on the drawing board for more years than officials should care to remember. There have been delays in the past as the town attempted to resolve such matters as cost parking spaces, reduced inconvenience through construction schedules and a general concern to make the work as amenable to all as possible.

There is little question Elm Square is badly in need of redesign.

The application of federal and state funds allows the project to go ahead with little or no commitment of local tax dollars.

But, acceptance of federal and state funds implies the adherence to their specifications, regardless of any opinion that some of the work may seem unnecessary.

In view of the necessity of getting the work done, it is suggested that the town attempt to get some assurance from the federal and state authorities that the project will entail as little inconvenience as possible and that an early November target date be set for completion.

The only other alternative would seem to be delaying the work until next summer, by which time there is every possibility that funding would no longer be available.

In any case, the project has been talked about and planned for so long, it now seems logical to follow the recommendation of the town manager and go forward with the work. It will allow the application of federal funding for a much-needed improvement in the downtown area before the money line from Washington runs dry.

Prom Time

Andover High students will have the opportunity to enjoy one of the highlights of school social life this Friday night- attending the annual prom at the Christian Formation Center.

It's a fun time of life, what with the formal attire, the dinner-dance, the enjoyment of the social graces, crowning of a queen, etc.

Hopefully the joy of the occasion will be paramount throughout the evening and not marred by accidents, drinking or drugs, which so often have become a part of modern-day school activities, here and elsewhere.

An automobile, whether one wishes to accept the fact or not, is a lethal piece of machinery, if not operated and handled properly and within the regulations of the road. Too often do we hear of the one burst of speed for fun which leads to injuries of a permanent or fatal nature.

Mixing the driving with consumption of alcohol, as so often happens these days, is another practice which can have potentially fatal consequences.

And, the drug scene, is hardly an enjoyable complement to the perfect social evening.

There are some disturbing reports that some parents in Andover are planning to conduct pre, or post-prom cocktail parties. Condoning such affairs and planning and chaperoning such events, on the basis that parental supervision of an activity which is going to take place anyway, would seem to represent a refusal to accept parental responsibility.

We are cognizant that some may be critical of mentioning these items as Andover's young people anxiously prepare for the big event Friday night.

But, we would rather make mention of potential dangers this week, than have to report on tragic consequences of throwing caution to the wind in next-week's issue.

'Hams' Term Tower Law Sufficiently Restrictive

Proponents of two bylaws that would allow ham radio and wind energy enthusiasts to build towers in Andover have assured the Planning Board those bylaws would be "very restrictive" and "conservative."

Amateur radio operators filled the board's public hearing room Monday night, but only one rose to object to the proposed law. Article 16 in the town meeting warrant.

"I'm all for it, but not the way it's written," Edwin Fleischer of Yale Road told the planners. He explained that he has been a "ham" in Andover for more than 25 years, and felt the bylaw would discriminate against hams by regulating their towers, but not towers for CB radios, television antennas, or weather equipment.

Fleischer added that the restrictions would make it costly for amateur radio operators to build towers, and wondered if the bylaw would affect an eight-foot tower that he erected years ago.

Director of Community Development and Planning Rhys Kear answered that while he had no definite answer, he believes existing towers would not be "grandfathered" under the new bylaw — that is, the bylaw would not cover those towers.

And Clyde Brunquell of Mill Stone Circle, a member of the study committee that drafted the bylaw, indicated that contrary to Fleischer's statement, the bylaw would restrict 'B. television and weather towers.

"The bylaw is restrictive for a reason," Brunquell said. "We tried to look at it from the view of the people who have to live next door to a tower — they have rights, and they have to be protected, too."

James Fisk of High Plain Road, also a member of the tower committee, said it is the "consensus" of the 85 hams in Andover that they can "live very well with the article. The hams of Andover do endorse the wording in the warrant."

Fisk said it is unlikely that many hams would want or be able to afford the towers. He estimated that 15 to 20 might build towers, which can cost up to $10 per foot to install.

The bylaw would require a special permit from the Zoning Board of Appeals for radio towers. It would regulate the materials and building of towers, establish setback requirements, and limit towers to 100 feet. Fisk said the average radio tower would probably be 40 feet.

A similar bylaw is proposed for wind energy towers in Article 15. Edward Johanson of Rocky Hill Road, a member of the tower committee, described that article as "very restrictive, but I am in favor of it. We should be conservative."

Johanson said that "very few lots" in Andover would qualify for wind towers, because the bylaw stipulates that the setback must equal one tower length, and towers must be high enough to clear the treeline. He estimated that five to 10 wind towers might be erected in Andover if the bylaw is approved.

Johanson's own lot would not qualify, he said — even though he has a federal grant to erect a wind machine, and it was his case that inspired the creation of the bylaw. The ZBA denied his request for a

JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WEEKLY SPECIAL

President turns on charm
- for sake of his programsBy Jack Anderson and Joe Spear

WASHINGTON -- Jimmy Carter never seemed to figure out how to stroke the egos on Capitol Hill, but Ronald Reagan has already shown that he's an expert at the job.

In an effort to sell his economic programs, the president has been concentrating on Democrats in Congress who might be susceptible to siren songs from the White House. He has been buttering them up with the kind of presidential charm and attention that hasn't been seen around Washington since the days of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

One White House target has been Rep. Beverly Byron, D-Md. She hadn't made up her mind whether she would support the Reagan budget or the Democratic competition's version. So Reagan poured on the old Hollywood soft soap.

Mrs. Byron was offered seats at the opera and the symphony. She declined politely. Then she got the ultimate persuasion -- a call from the president himself. What made it even more impressive was the fact that he tried two or three times before he finally caught her on the phone.

Another Reagan target was Rep. Jack Hightower, D-Texas. The president reached him by phone at his Texas ranch and urged Hightower to support the administration's budget "for the country."

And about 10 days ago, the president invited five Democratic congressmen to the White House for a private meeting. The session lasted for an hour and a half. Vice President Bush was also in attendance.

Toward the end of the meeting, President Reagan offered Rep. Marvin Leath of Texas a packet of jellybeans for his 12-year-old son. As the president was about to autograph the package of candy, an aide reminded him that Prince Charles was waiting next door. Showing a clear sense of priorities, the president remarked that the future king of England would just have to wait while he signed his name to the bag of jellybeans for the congressman's son.

The president can't be everywhere, of course. But the effort to win over Democrats has obvious top priority in the White House. Rep. Sam Stratton, D-N.Y., for example, has been called by half a dozen Cabinet officers, including Treasury Secretary Donald Regan, Health and Human Services Secretary Richard Schweiker, Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis and even Secretary of State Alexander Haig.

If Ronald Reagan fails to get his programs through Congress, it won't be for lack of trying.

JOB SCAM -- President Reagan has set limits on the number of employees who can be on the payroll of federal agencies, but two departments are engaging in a juggling act with their workers that will probably end up costing the taxpayers more money. Here's how the "Job Scam" works:

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has a loan program to help low-income Americans fix up their homes. But many of the borrowers find they can't meet their loan payments. As of last year, for example, there were 8,000 defaults on these home-improvement loans.

A year ago, the department hired a dozen temporary workers to track down the defaulters and collect what they owed Uncle Sam. The temporary employees did their jobs well. They managed to collect 3,500 of the defaulted loans and got many of the other backsliders to make payments.

But now the department is thinking of dismissing the temporary employees in order to meet the personnel limit. It is considering turning over the bill-collecting jobs to private companies. But here is the catch: HUD will try to get the private collection agencies to hire the laid-off government workers. They would still be paid indirectly by the government, but their salaries wouldn't come out of the department's personnel budget. So, on paper, there would be fewer employees on the federal payroll.

The same thing is going on at the Department of Education, where there is a problem with student loan programs. Thousands of former students have skipped out on their government loans, so the department hired temporary employees to chase down the deadbeats.

Now the department wants to cut down on the number of workers on its payroll, and there go the temporary bill collectors. But here again, the department is trying to get the private collection agencies to hire the laid-off workers. The taxpayers won't save a nickel.

In fact, according to Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill., the switch to private bill collectors may make the situation worse because they will probably be paid with a percentage of what they managed to collect. As a result, they'll go after the easy loans, take their percentage and leave the hard-core deadbeats for the government to find.

HEADLINES & FOOTNOTES -- Federal education programs are scheduled for a 25-percent slash, but the schools which educate the children of ambassadors and servicemen abroad are due for a $27 million increase. This is because they are funded by the Pentagon, which the White House has declared off limits to the budget-cutters. Energy Department bureaucrats predict that gasoline will cost between $1.47 and $1.75 a gallon by Christmas, but one expert admitted such predictions "have not been reliable in the past."

Winning Effort, Losing Cause

Warrior first baseman Glen McIntyre smashes a drive into centerfield, above, then slides safely into home plate, earning a two-run homer for himself during last week's game with Methuen. It was a losing cause, however, as the visitors won out 10-8.

McCrackens Takes Hoop Title

The Department of Community Service Men's Basketball League season came to a close when McCrackens topped the Sport Shop in the rubber game of the playoff finals. It was the first championship for McCrackens since joining the league three seasons ago and it came at the hands of last year's defending champions, the Sport Shop. On its way to the final round, the Sport Shop had to defeat a very tough Trombly Motor Coach squad that forced the best-of-three semi-final round to the third critical game.

The matchup between the Sport Shop and Trombly was one of the closest fought playoff series in recent years. It featured an overtime victory by Trombly as well as a thrilling last second desperation shot win by the Sport Shop. The semi-final round for McCrackens went more smoothly, as it topped a strong P&M Cleaning squad two games to none.

In the finals, it seemed as though no one would be able to stop the previously undefeated McCrackens. In the series opener a tired Sport Shop team with no players on the bench went down to defeat by a score of 50 to 46. In the second game, a somewhat over-confident McCrackens squad was handed its first defeat of the season, determined to make the series go the full three games, the Sport Shop came up with fine performances from Phil Manna, Al Eggert and Alex Palmer to tip the score in its favor. The third and deciding playoff game featured tenacious defense by both teams. After one half of play, the Sport Shop led by one point and seemed to have the game under control. McCrackens, however, was not to be denied. Tom Teishman began to dominate the boards in the critical second half. Coupled with Tommy Enright's dogged defense which shot out Palmer in the first half and Eggert in the second half, McCrackens was able to work its fast break and outscore its opponents 30 to 20 in the last 20 minutes. At the final buzzer, McCrackens led 56 to 47 and had captured the playoff championship. Coach Neal McCann called the win a strong team victory. "It took a great effort to beat a great team like the Sport Shop. We took them for granted in that second game. I'm glad they brought us back to reality." Having taken the regular season crown just a few weeks earlier, McCrackens became the second team in the last four years to take both division titles.

Cardinals Take Early Lead

By Dan Grams

League Standings

Team	W-L
*Cardinals	3-0
Dodgers	3-1
Giants	3-1
Mets	3-1
Pirates	0-4
*Cubs	0-3

*Indicates tie game not included in the league standings. The tie will be finished at a later date.

The Cardinals were the only National League team remaining undefeated, while the Mets and Dodgers tightened up the league standings with a pair of victories.

Cubs 6 - Cards 6

The Cubs, looking for their first win of the season, played the Cards to a 6-6 tie for 7 innings until the game was called due to darkness. The game will be completed next week as part of double-header between the 2 Cubs.

Dave Flanders and Erik Goodman combined on a 6 inner, striking out 6, while walking 5.

Mark Tucker and Cam Deery drove in 2 runs apiece with singles. Goodman had the other big hit for the Cubs, driving in the tying run in the bottom of the 7th to notch the score again, at 6.

John Russell saved the day for the Cubs, stabbing a screaming line drive in center (with the bases loaded) and flipping to 2nd for an inning ending double play.

Dodgers 6 - Cubs 1

Mike Dimeo's towering home run in the 3rd inning broke open a close game which paved the way for the Dodger's victory 6-1.

Jay Trepanier led the Cub hitters with 2 safeties, while Scott Grant and Mark Tucker had the other Cub hits.

Cam Deery and Chris Hansberry split the pitching chores for Cubs (0-3-1). Scott Grant played a super game for the cubs, despite an injured hand, with a nice defensive play to go along with his single.

Dave Swenson played a fine 2 way game for the Dodgers as did Mark Needham.

Mets 13 - Pirates 4

The Mets defeated the Pirates 13-4, despite the fine all around performance by Pirate Peter Sander.

Sander turned in an outstanding offensive performance for the Pirates going 3 for 3 (double, 3RBI). Sander also hurled for 3 innings, striking out 5, while walking 2 and allowing no earned runs.

James Reagan (3 runs scored), Robin Kim, and Mark Baldwin had the other pirate hits. Reagan, Jim Tracy, Bob Beanland, and Kim starred defensively.

Dodgers 11 - Pirates 1

The Dodgers pounded out 12 hits on way to a 11-1 thrashing of the Pirates.

Tim Adams threw 3 strong innings to pick up the win for the Dodgers. Adams got relief help from Mark Elepante and Larry Aiello.

Larry Aiello (2 hits), Tom Johnson, Bart Kalstein were the Dodger sticks. Dave Swenson, Joey Lyons, and Larry Aiello combined to turn over a 6-3-5 double play for the Dodgers.

The Pirates used a host of players which included James Reagan, Bob Beanland, Peter Sandler, Jim Taly, and Jeremy Paine.

Sandler and Tacy had the Pirate hits, and stood out defensively.

Mets 15 - Giants 14

The Mets handed the Giants their first setback of the season with a 15-14 victory. The game was a real slugfest, with the game not being decided until the final out was registered.

Brandon McCue, Rob Moody, and Dave Pratt shared the pitching duties for the Giants, while Luke Wennik and Dan Hegarty were the Met hurlers, with Wennik picking up the victory.

Mark Polakow of the Giants led all hitters going for 5, including 4 RBI's Rob Moody and David Wade each had 2 hits apiece for the Giants.

Dan Hegarty was the hitting star for the Mets.

The Giants had the tying run on base in the final inning but were unable to bring him home, giving the Mets the game.

Giants 13 - Braves 0

Chris Colsia recorded his 2nd complete game shutout with a 13-0 victory over the Braves. Colsia's 3 hitter featured a season high 10 strikeouts.

Mark Polakow continued his hot hitting, collecting 2 hits, including a towering home run, driving in 2 runs, Colsia also had a 2 run single.

Trotters Win Another

The Greater Andover Trotters Basketball Club, coached by Frank Monette, continued their winning streak this week as the sophomore team topped Methuen 51-29 in the semi-finals in the Lawrence Jewish Community Center Sophomore Basketball tournament. The 14 and under team, who is competing in the Arlington Boys Club tournament and did not see any action this week, will be playing in the semifinals of that tournament against Holland of Roxbury.

The Andover Trotters Sophomore team, who are 3-0 in the Lawrence tournament, will meet Central Catholic, also 3-0 in this weeks finals.

In the semifinal game versus Methuen, Andover took a 9-4 first quarter lead, 23-8, halftime advantage and increased it to 34-15 by the end of the third quarter and finished the game with the final outcome 51-29 on some excellent defense and fast break offense.

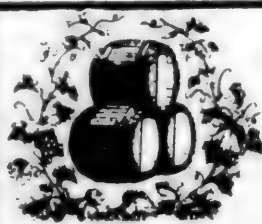

Sean McGranaghan's 8 points, Leo Parent's 5 points and Andy Emmert's 4 points led the first half surge for Andover as Leo Parent's 7 points, Bob Licare's 6 points and 4 points each by Steve Hebeisen and Chuck Frazzette starred in the second half.

For the game the well-balanced Trotters showed some excellent teamwork helping out on defense of their man-to-man play and good ball movement on offense with many fast-breaking opportunities.

Leo Parent led the offense with 12 points, 21 rebounds and 12 blocked shots. Sean McGranaghan stuffed in 10 points, had 15 rebounds and 5 blocked shots; Bob Licare had 8 points, 10 assists, 3 steals and controlled the game as the point guard Andy Emmert banked in 7 points, had 7 rebounds and 6 steals. Chuck Frazzette had 6 points, 8 rebounds; Steve Hebeisen had 4 points, 10 rebounds and 4 blocked shots; and Jeff Canovitch had 4 points, 8 rebounds and 2 blocked shots.

"About 1965 I went in search of a place to board my 3 dogs. I didn't want them in a hospital - or a cage - most kennels caged their dogs and conditions were repulsive to me. I cancelled my vacation. I had a small building that I converted with "stalls and runs." Cost (those days) $800.00 - capacity 11 dogs. I put in this building what I wanted my own dogs to have. That was the beginning of TEE-EMM'S KENNEL. Capacity now 513 Dogs and Cats (separate floors). We are now putting up a new modern building (our 5th) that will be completed this spring - it will be SUPER BEAUTIFUL. We are indeed very proud of it and a dream has come true."

Haverhill Edges Warriors

By Ellen Williams

Last Wednesday, the Andover Boys Track Team lost a decisive meet to the tough Hillie team. The final score was 79-66. Andover evened their record to 2-2.

The warriors triumphed over Haverhill in the pole vault. Lester McKeller jumped 12' with his first place performance while John Souter and Steve Stabile placed second and third, respectively.

Bill Foster finished first in the javelin with a throw of 156', while teammate Dave Avery did the same in the discus with an excellent throw of 136'. Additional first place performers included Steve Jackson, 330 low hurdles and Kevin Canavan, 440.

Craig Hyslip captured second place in the long jump. Other second place finishers were Dave Deloury, triple jump; Ted Kelley, high jump; Greg Batten, 120 high hurdles; Scott James, mile; and Carl Schwind, two mile.

In the 880, Scott Elliot ran an excellent race to capture third place. Other third place performers included Jeff Gutterman, 100; Gary Milne, 220; Joe Smith, 440; Kyle Dorsey, 120 high hurdles; Mark Robichaud, shot put; Steve Oakar, high jump; and Mike Lucey, triple jump.

Both of Andover's relay teams were victorious. The 440 relay team consisting of Gutterman, Fluet, Milne and McKeller finished with an exceptional time of 46 sec. The mile relay team (Kelley, Giles, Martin and anchorleg Joe Smith) broke the tape with an outstanding time of 3:42.2.

Andover is looking forward to meet the undefeated Chelmsford team next Wednesday on the Eugene Lovely Memorial Field.

Senior Babe Ruth Tryouts

Candidates for Andover's 1981 team entry in the expanded Merrimack Valley Senior Babe Ruth (16-18) League are urged to register and try out for the 15-18-member squad on the following dates, times and location: Sunday, May 17, 1 to 4:30 p.m. at Andover Playstead (behind the East Jr. High.) Sunday, May 24, 12:30 to 4 p.m. at the same location.

Registration of players will be held at the times and location indicated, rain or shine.

All positions on the team are open and all potential candidates must attend a minimum of one tryout session for consideration. Andover residents whose birthdays fall on or between Aug. 1, 1962, and July 31, 1965, are eligible candidates and need not be members of J.V. or varsity teams for consideration.

However, high school or college players currently on teams must also attend tryouts, but full attention will be given to protect a player's arm, etc., during tryouts, so as not to jeopardize their current team's league standing or potential.

The season will start June 7 (delayed if Andover High School is in state tourney) and will continue into early August, following a 22-game regular season and a post season playoff tournament and All Star game.

Candidates must be eligible and willing to participate in the majority of the team's scheduled games which will be played as twilight, night (Lawrence Stadium) and Sunday (DH's) games.

A $30 fee will be required from team members, payable prior to team selection. Andover's 1979 and 1980 season's entries have been highly successful, winning league and playoff titles. For 1981, teams are entered from Andover, Boxford, Billerica, Chelmsford, Haverhill, Newburyport, Lawrence American, Lawrence National, Topsfield and Tri-Town (Groveland, Merrimack, W. Newbury). The league's success and prominence are such that potential league applicants exist from

League Standings

	W-L
Orioles	3-1
Red Sox	3-1
Tigers	3-1
Yankees	1-2
Twins	1-2
White Sox	1-2
Indians	1-3

Red Sox 12 - White Sox 0

The battle of the Sox was really no battle at all with the Red Sox out hitting the White Sox 10-2 with a 12-0 lopsided victory.

Gerry Nassiff and Greg Devior hurled three innings each to give the Red Sox their first win of the year, striking out 11.

John Slavin drove in four runs with a pair of hits to lead all hitters. Burke, Nassiff, Matt Gibson and Steve Devior also had two RBI's. Mighty-might Sean Melia had a perfect bunt single to open the game.

David Seaman, Eric Frank, Mark Duncan and Robbie Peck shared the pitching chores for the White Sox. Chris Poor and Doug Moon had the two White Sox hits.

The Red Sox sent 12 men to the plate in the first and never looked back.

American Majors Orioles 7 - Indians 5

The Orioles opened up their 1981 Little League season on a winning note with a 7-5 victory over the Indians.

Ten-year old Pat Kelley made his Little League debut a success, ripping two doubles in his first two trips to the plate, driving in three runs to lead all Oriole hitters. Chris Nelson, Chris Concemi, Paul Gilmartin and Allan Zeeder had the other Oriole hits.

Paul Curtis and Paul Gilmartin were the Oriole hurlers with Curtis picking up the win. Brian Costello and Andy Frost were the Indian hurlers. Frost struck out 8 of 9 batters he faced.

Matt Shine, Eric Wilcox and Jon Anderson were the Indian sticks with RBI singles.

Orioles 10 - Tigers 1

The Orioles continued their winning ways with a 10-1 victory over the tigers. The loss marked the first time since last year that the Tigers lost a regular season game. The Tigers suffered an even greater loss of star player Earl Abdo with an injured ankle.

The Oriole's top five batters combined for 11 hits. Paul Gilmartin led all hitters with three doubles, followed by Chris Concemi, Allan Reeder and Dave Curtis.

Andy Pauline had two hits for the Tigers.

Dave Curtis was the winning Oriole hurler, while Earl Abdo took the loss.

Red Sox 5 - Orioles 0

Gerry Nassiff hurled a no-hitter and helped himself with a two for three day at the plate to lead the Red Sox to a 5-0 shutout over the Orioles. The win gave Nassiff a pitching record of 3-0. Nassiff has picked up victories in every Red Sox game to date. In 12 innings he has struckout 20.

allowed just 3 singles, walked 8, and has yet to give up an earned run.

Matt Gibson, Jurt Burzlaff and John Slavin had the other Sox hits. Joel Flaherty and Greg Devior were defensive standouts.

Allan Reeder and Paul Gilmartin were the Oriole hurlers, while shortstop Kevin Henderson shined defensively.

Orioles 6 - Yanks 4

After falling behind 4-2 after four innings, the Orioles erupted for a four-run fifth and hung on for a 6-4 victory over the Yankees. Allan Reeder hurled three shut-out relief innings to pick up the win for the Orioles.

Mark Hashem, Lance Kalfelz and Tim Smith shared the mound chores for the Yanks. Patt Breen was the offensive hero for the Yanks with two RBI singles, catcher Brian Gibson was a defensive standout, gunning down a runner attempting to steal.

Dave Curtis, Paul Gilmartin, Craig Knight and Geoff Wood had the key Oriole hits. David Noyes stood out defensively.

Twins 12 - White Sox 4

Chris Sapuppo, Mike Lane and Steve Rikeman combined on a two-hitter to give the Twins a 12-4 win over the White Sox.

Will Radulski enjoyed a perfect 4-for-4 day at the plate for the twins, while Sapuppo, Rikeman and Lane had two hits apiece.

Chris Pool and Ed Frank were the Sox hurlers with Frank picking up the loss. Ken Bellino was the lone bright spot to the Sox offense with two safeties.

Jim Brodie, Jay Sullivan and Jim Masaro were the game's defensive stars.

Red Sox 5 - Yankees 4

The Red Sox scored two in the second and three more in the third to nip the Yankees 5-4.

Matt Burke led off the bottom half of the second inning with a walk; Kurt Burzlaff followed with a double and both were pushed across the plate on a key hit by Kevin Foley making the score 2-1.

The Yankees recaptured the lead in the top of the third sparked by a two run down Mark Hashem. The Red Sox fought right back and scored three runs in the bottom half of that inning, which proved to be the winning margin. Sean Melia started things off with a walk; Matt Gibson reached base safely and stole second. Gerry Nassiff walked and Matt Burke's single brought in two runs. Kevin Foley and Danny Fay followed with singles; Fay's knocking in the winning run.

Gerry Nassiff worked three innings picking up the win for the Red Sox upping his record to 2-0 while Steve Devior came on for a fine relief job. For the Yankees it was 10-year-old shortstop Pat Breen who was a standout in the field.

Twins 11 - Indians 10

The Twins erupted with a ten run fourth inning which paved the way for the Twins second victory.

Football Camp Expands Sets Dates

THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 14, 1981

For the past three summers the Andover Football Camp has offered area athletes an opportunity to learn and practice more football under an outstanding teaching staff of local high school coaches. The camp this year will be directed by Mike Cassano of Timberland and Mike Fay of Central Catholic. The format will remain a twilight program, not a day program. Located on the scenic campus of Phillips Academy as part of the school's Summer Session, the program will enroll boys in or entering grades, 6, 7, 8 and 9-12.

Practice sessions will stress the following concepts: individual, small group and team instruction, basic fundamentals and techniques and a special emphasis on the development of a competitive and enthusiastic attitude.

The Andover Football Camp will also introduce a quarterback specialty camp which will be coordinated by Don White, former quarterback at Notre Dame and Daniel Rorke, former head coach at North Andover High School and founder of the Andover Football Camp. The quarterbacks will have expert instruction in stance, setting up, throwing, ball handling, faking, strategy, the sprint out pass and the option.

Phillips has also made available the use of its swimming pool as well as the Universal Gym and Nautilus equipment in its weight room.

The camp will be held during the weeks of July 26-31 for campers in grades, 6, 7 and 8, and Aug. 2-7 for senior campers, grades 9 through 12. All practice sessions will be held at twilight from 5:30-9 p.m. Enrollment is underway.

Requests for applications and all questions may be made to the Andover Football Camp, Athletic Department, Phillips Academy, Andover, MA 01810.

National League

Player Of The Week

This week's player of the week goes to the Giants Mark Polakow. Mark led all National League batters for the week collecting 6 hits in 7 trips to the plate, 6 runs batted in, and 3 extra base hits, including his 2nd home run of the season. Congratulations Mark!

National League Minors

Braves 4 - Astros 1

Leo Fontaine and Phil Morello combined to give the Braves their 3rd win in low, with a 4-1 victory over the Astros. Morello picked up his 2nd win in as many decisions.

Mark Hebeisen had 2 hits, including a home run.

Mike Hart had an outstanding game behind the plate gunning down a runner at second.

Braves 17 - Giants 3

The Braves continued their winning ways with a 17-3 pounding of the Giants. The win upped their record to 4-0.

Randy Ying was the complete game winner for the Braves striking out 6.

Kevin Lyons bases loaded triple keyed a big 2nd inning which set the Braves off on the right track. Chris Wayland led all Brave hitters with 2 doubles.

Jeff D. Donato stood out defensively for the Victors.

Cards 2 - Dodgers 1

The 1980 defending first-half major league champion Cardinals and Dodgers hooked up in one of the finest season openers ever played, with the Cards coming out on top, 2-1, in 7 innings.

Larry Aiello started for the Dodgers, followed by Mark Elephanti and Tim Adams. Aiello completely baffled Cardinal bats allowing just 2 hits while striking out 5 in 4 innings of work.

The Dodgers jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the 2nd inning via a walk to Dave Swenson, a stolen base, and a run scoring double by Elephanti. The game stood at 1-0 until 5th, when the Cards tied the score on a unearned run.

The Dodgers missed a golden opportunity in the 6th with the bases loaded and nobody out, but Cardinal ace Ted Cormier put out the fire by retiring the next three batters in order.

The Cards picked up what turned out to be the game winner in the top of the 7th. Jeff Tarro singled and moved to second on a walk, both runners advanced on a wild pitch and Ted Cormier's fielder's choice brought Tarro home sliding with the winning run.

Cormier took the win in relief of Steve Donovan. Jeff Tarro had 2 hits for the victors, while Barry Connors had a bunt single. Matt Rubenstein made the play of the game, stabbing a screaming line drive saving a run.

Mike Moriarty and Glen Farnham were defensive standouts, with Farnham making a key play doubling off a runner.

Braves 6 - Cubs 5

The National League Champion Braves scored 5 runs in the bottom of the 6th inning, thanks to some sloppy play by the Cubs to come from behind 6-5.

Chris Hansberry, Eric Goodman, Scott Grant, and Mark Russell shared the pitching duties for the Cubs. Goodman stood out on the hill despite being the victim of some poor defense behind him.

David Sullivan, Steve Mencis, and Joshua Yeserski had the big hits for the Braves, while Chris DiClemente and John Twomey stood out defensively. Yeserski took the win in relief of Sullivan.

Mark Russell and Jay Trepanier turned over nice double plays to spark the Cubs.

Dodgers 12 - Mets 5

The Dodgers evened their record at 1 and 1 pounding the Mets 12-5.

Mark Needham and Todd Patti led the Dodger assault with 4 and 3 hits respectively. Mike Dimeo also had a key hit for the victors.

David Swenson picked the win with relief help from Mark Elephanti.

John Sweeney was the complete game loser for the Mets, while Dan Hegarty,

National League

It was a one-sided battle for the Indians who scored three runs in each of the first three and one in the fourth before the Twins fought hard to tie things up. The inning was highlighted by key hits from Peter Radulski, Joey Massaro and Steve Rikeman.

The star of the game was Rikeman who doubled to start the inning, reached third, and scored on Massaro's sacrifice fly. Brian Costello was a standout for the Indians, collecting two hits and four RBI's.

Tigers 10 - Yankees 3

The Tigers scored nine runs in the first three innings which was all they needed to coast to a 10-3 victory over the Yankees.

It was a solid team effort by the Tigers with Scott Wallace (the winning pitcher) standing out both on the mound and at bat, collecting three hits and three RBI's. Also 10-year-old Mike Helm, who came on in relief, combining with Scott Wallace for a one-hitter. Scott Powers had the lone hit for the Yankees who just couldn't seem to put things together.

Tigers 8 - White Sox 2

Ray Rourke, John Moosa and Dave Rourke were the bit hitters each collecting two hits to lead the Tiger 10 hit attack.

Rookie Mike Hein picked up the win striking out six while walking just two White Sox batters with Andy Pauline picking up the save in relief.

For the White Sox, Mark Duncan and Donny Shaefer shined defensively.

Indians 8 - White Sox 12

The White Sox scored 12 runs on just five hits as darkness swept across the field to end the game after the fifth inning.

White Sox stars were Dave Seamon, who tripled, and C. Poor, who had a double. The Indians' stars were Jeff Smith and Jamie O'Brien, each had two of the team's six hits.

Ken Bellino pitched just two innings, but picked up the White Sox' first victory of the season.

Indians 7 - Red Sox 6

The Indians scored the biggest upset of the year with a 7-6 win over the Red Sox.

After a shaky first inning, Indian hurler Andy Frost settled down to go the distance and his first win of the season for the Indians. Frost struck out eight, walked 11 and gave up 6 hits in his route going performance.

Greg Devor was the tough luck loser for the Red Sox, with relief help from his brother, Steve.

Matt Shine and Jeff Smith's back-to-back doubles highlighted a four run second, which tied the game at 5. Shine and Smith finished the contest with two hits apiece.

Matt Gibson, Gerry Nassif and Matt Burke all had two hits to pace the Sox.

The Indians rattled off a third inning triple play to turn the game around. Jeff Smith caught a popup, doubled a man off first, and first baseman Jamie O'Brien fired to third, nailing a base runner trying to advance.

Tigers 11 - Twins 9

The Tigers upped their record to three wins against just one loss by defeating the Twins 11-9.

The Tigers scored eight runs in the third aided by Ray Rourke who had two hits, Jamie Clarke and Dave Rourke who also contributed with a hit apiece.

The Twins found themselves down 11-6 going into the sixth and tried to get back into the game by scoring three straight runs narrowing the score to 11-9 before Earl Abdo shut down the Twins last inning desperation effort to hold on to the win for Scott Wallace who pitched three innings.

Yankees 8 - Twins 3

The Yankees picked up their first win of this young season against two losses. Their eight run, seven hit effort was led by Mark Hashem's two run homer in the fourth inning.

The Yankees scored three in the second on RBI singles by Tom Tormey, Lance Kallfelz and Tim Smith.

The Yankees blew the game open in the fourth as they sent nine batters to the plate sparked by Hashem's two run homer. Tormey was the other key hitter by collecting two hits.

The star of the game was Hashem who not only hit the homer, but also pitched three innings of shutout ball before he was relieved by Tormey. The two combined for 11 strikeouts in the game.

Chris Patten, and Andy Shea were the Met hitters.

Mike Moriarty (Dodgers), Patten (Dodgers), and Curt Lengeman (Mets) were defensive stars.

Giants 14 - Pirates 3

The Giants opened their 1981 season with a 14-4 victory over the Pirates, highlighted by Mark Polakow's home run.

David Pratt and David Wade combined for a 3-hitter, pitching 3 innings apiece. Pratt chalked up the victory.

Peter Sandeler, James Reagan, Bob Beanland, Robin Kim and Jim Tacy were the Pirate hurlers.

The Pirates had the bases loaded 4 times, but could only manage 4 runs, with Tacy, Sandeler, and Wilson picking up the safeties.

Polakow, Ryan Murphy, and Troy Bloom all had 2 hits for the winners, with Murphy, Wade, and Robbie Moody starring in the field.

John Reagan was the leader for the Pirates.

Mets 3 - Cubs 2

Dan Hegarty's 2-hitter highlighted a 3-2 Met victory over the Cubs. Hegarty struck out 7, walked 2, and got outstanding defensive support.

Andy Shea, Chris Patten, Jack Sweeney, and Hegarty had the Met hits, while Sweeney and Curt Lengeman were defensive stalwarts.

Giants 5 - Braves 3

After a shaky 1st inning, Chris Colsia settles down to allow just 1 hit over the next 5 stanzas (Dave Sullivan's RBI double), in the best pitching performance of the young season. Colsia struck 9 while giving up just 3 hits in his route going performance.

The Giants went ahead to stay thanks to the timely hitting of Mark Polakow, Rob Moody, and some luck. A walk, singles by Polakow and a misplayed ball opened the flood gates, to give the Giants a come from behind victory.

Steve Mencis and Joshua Yeserski stood out in a solid defensive game by both teams.

Jeff McNeill and David Sullivan were the Braves hitting stars.

Cards 3 - Pirates 1

Cardinal pitchers Steve Surrette, John Gangi, and Ted Cormier combined to hurl a no-hitter, and a 3-1 victory over the Pirates.

The Pirates used a host of pitchers which included James Reagan, Bob Beanland, Ray Cunningham, and Peter Sandeler.

Barry Connors sparked a Cardinal uprising with a triple, which eventually turned out to be the decisive run. Jeff Tarro had 2 hits to lead all Cardinal hitters, while Connors and Cormier stood out defensively.

James Reagan was the lone bright spot for the Pirates, splitting the pitching and catching duties, 3 innings apiece.

Player(s) Of The Week

This week's player(s) of the week goes to the Cardinal's Jeff Tarro and the Giant's Chris Colsia.

Tarro, the Cardinal lead-off hitter was a major factor in the Cards 2 victories this past week. Jeff collected 4 hits in 7 at bats, scored 3 runs, and played outstanding defense in centerfield.

Colsia was the only route going hurler to notch a victory in the first week of the season. Chris was just over-powering and after a tough first inning, opposing batters found Chris untouchable. Colsia struckout 9, gave up 3 hits, walked 2, and gave up 3 runs in his complete game victory.

Andover Minor League

Cardinals 16 - Pirates 0

Peter Casaletto made an outstanding play in rightfield to save the no-hitter.

Davis and Skillings were outstanding in the field for the Pirates.

Braves 20 - Dodgers 10

The Braves outslugged the Dodgers in a shortened game due to darkness 20-10.

Brian Broussard and Mark Hebeisen were the offensive stars for the Braves while Fontaine and Morrello shared the pitching chores. Morrello picked up the win.

YWCA Swimmers Awarded Trophies

The Lawrence YMCA Wahoo Swim Team closed out a successful season with the annual awards night held Saturday, April 18, in the YWCA auditorium.

It was a night for celebration as the Wahoos finished their season with a good team standing in the league, and returned recently from West Point, New York where they were second-place finishers in the YWCA championships of the U.S.A. Families and friends enjoyed a full evening of activities, including the reading of the log by co-captains Anne Margaret Connolly and Cinde Battye.

Trophies were awarded to swimmers in each age group and Bob Sharpe, the diving coach, awarded the outstanding diver trophies to Jennifer Cullen in the 9 and 10 year group, Amy Morton in 11 and 12 years, and Cathy Dolan in 13 and 14 years.

For each age group, coach Jim Manchester presented a Most Improved Swimmer Award to the girl who has consistently dropped seconds from her race times and improved the quality of her swimming strokes. Also, the Most Valuable Swimmer Award was given in each group to the girl who has not only been an outstanding swimmer, but has also been an asset to the team in leadership and enthusiasm for the sport.

Honored with trophies were: eight and under group, most improved, Kelly Hulme; nine and 10 group, most improved, Christine Doykos; most valuable, Amy Piazza; 11 and 12 year group, most improved, Jennifer Hartel; most valuable, Deanna Brucato; 13 and 14 year group, most improved, Kara Nightingale; most valuable, Kate Belavitch; 15 and over group, most improved, Maureen Costello; most valuable, Tracy Dowd.

Many other prizes and certificates of recognition were presented and gifts of appreciation exchanged. Looking to next year, the coaches indicate that the Wahoos will expand to a co-ed team in September with an ever-growing diving program and optional weight training for swimmers.

Rhythmic Dancing Classes

The Greater Lawrence YMCA will hold a four-week mini-session of Rhythmic Dance classes in several area towns beginning the week of May 18.

The YMCA Rhythmic Dance Program is designed for women of all ages and combines Aerobic routines with selected exercises to offer students a well balanced program.

Classes will be held at the Lawrence YMCA (on Lawrence Street), Mondays and Wednesday, 7 to 8 p.m.; in Boxford at the Congregational Church (on Georgetown Road), Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:15 to 10:15 a.m. and 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. (begins June 2); and in Tewksbury at the Congregational Church (on East Street), Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 8 p.m.

Registrations will be taken on first class session at the site of your choice during the week of May 18.

For further information, contact Bob Ouellette at the Greater Lawrence YMCA.

Old Ironsides

Most famous of "Old Ironsides" victories in the War of 1812 were the Guerrier, the Java, and the combination of the Cyane and the Levant. Saved from destruction by Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem in 1837, and carefully restored in 1927, she is the oldest commissioned ship in the U.S. Navy.

signment of telling people" about the transfers, he repeated that they had all "reacted very positively...not with bland acceptance."

Where else in the state, he asked, could you have two school closings back to back and still have such a commitment from the administrators. "It says something for the caliber of our people, he said."

Teacher transfers will be made farther down the line, Seifert said, after the redistricting is settled and the classes are more in line for next year.

He said flyers were sent to every teacher, asking those who would have to move from Shawsheen as well as those who might just want a change, to list their preferences of schools, one, two, three. He said the slips have been collected and will be analyzed by the administration in its efforts to come up with a staffing pattern.

Following the closing of Doherty and a similar exercise last year, Seifert said it was "a rare case" where someone did not get that first, second or third choice."

After the teachers, he said, will come the transfers of aides, secretaries and custodians.

Digital

Park, the developer outlined plans for the entire site to town meeting.

"I think you are trying to move too fast with too many unanswered questions," Kenneth DeBenedictis of Surrey Lane added. "I would not want to give blanket approval to some landowner without knowing the traffic impact, the impact on the Riverina Road pumping station, the cost of widening Dascomb Road, the police and fire services required on the property — there are so many questions. I am disappointed that Andover is moving this quickly."

Planning Board Chairman Frank McBride agreed that Digital "has to address the 127 acres." He said that if the planners have too many unanswered questions on the rezoning article, they will not take a position on it at town meeting.

Planner David Gravalles said he "had assumed that someone was preparing the facts" on the entire site. But Director of Community Development and Planning Rhys Kear said he had not been requested to study the site.

Digital representative Pat Matthews emphasized that Digital would not be responsible for the entire site, which would still belong to Cormier. However, he disclosed that Digital and Cormier had entered into "preliminary" discussions about the remaining acres on Monday afternoon.

Matthews added that the Industrial D zone places strict restrictions on developers. "We are as concerned as a company about the quality of the development next to our property as we're sure you are," he told the neighbors. "We don't want our property diminished by the uses around it."

The abutters' other major concern focused on the increased traffic that an industrial plant would bring to the area, already congested at times by employees commuting to the nearby Raytheon plant.

Engineer Frank O'Callahan representing Digital, estimated that traffic would increase by 12 to 13 percent on a daily basis, with an 18 percent increase during peak hours. "There are substantial traffic impacts to the proposal," he said. "It would be making a bad situation worse."

But O'Callahan explained that Digital proposes to ease the congestion by having traffic signals installed at the ramps to Route 93 and the intersection of Dascomb and Frontage roads; widening Dascomb Road from two to four lanes near the entrance to the proposed plant; and staggering work hours so they would not coincide with Raytheon's hours.

Those changes would be accomplished by Digital "in conjunction with the state," Matthews said, with most of the funding provided by the company.

DeBenedictis said there are 18 children in the neighborhood, ages five to 11, who walk to school, and the industry would bring in "too many cars for young people to be facing. This causes me a great deal of concern."

The Digital representatives presented slides showing photographs of the area and their plans for the site, as well as photos of their plants around the country.

Matthews told the townspeople that Digital is currently "working toward a gravity sewer line", since their original plan to build a sewage pumping station would violate the town's master sewer plan. However, McBride cut off discussion of sewerage plans, reminding the audience that the public hearing concerned only the rezoning question.

The selectmen were slated to discuss the Digital article Monday night, but rescheduled that discussion for next Monday.

The Digital proposal apparently inspired owners of the nearby Knights of Columbus building on Frontage Road to present their 6.5 acre lot for rezoning from residential to industrial as well, a proposal that has been rejected in the past, under Article 37.

K of C President Francis Riley of Das-comb Road explained that the lot is the only residential land left on that side of Frontage Road, and is surrounded by industry. Rezoning to industrial would make the building easier to sell, he said.

But abutter May Holmes of Osgood Street said the rezoning would surround her residential property with industry. "We will no longer be a residential area — it would make us an island, and we would suffer," Holmes said the rezoning would worsen traffic problems in the area as well.

ity," the manager said. He explained that Massachusetts towns that require a year's notice for tenants have rent control. Without rent control, such restrictions are impossible — and town officials have no desire to institute rent control in Andover, Clark said.

The manager added that if town meeting passes the proposed multiple-family bylaw, Article 17 on the warrant, that would be "one strategy that would help stop conversions."

That bylaw would allow new condominiums in town, and "reduce the market pressure" for apartment owners to convert their rental units to condominiums, Clark indicated.

Concerts Dedicate New Organ

The public is invited to a weekend of organ performances and seminars, May 22-24, to celebrate the installation of the Phillips Academy's new Cochran Chapel organ, built by the Andover Organ Company of Lawrence.

The Dedication Recital will be given Friday evening, May 22, at 8 p.m. by Karel Paukert, a renowned concert organist. Born in Czechoslovakia and trained in Prague and Ghent, Belgium, Paukert is curator of musical arts at Cleveland Museum of Art and chairman of the organ department of the Cleveland Institute of Music. The recital will include compositions of J.S. Bach, Cesar Franck, Olivier Messiaen, W.A. Mozart and Daniel Pinkham, P.A. '40.

The Saturday program will be seminars and organ music by three noted organists who are Phillips Academy and Abbot Academy graduates:

9:30 a.m. - Elizabeth Travis Sollenberge, Abbot '40— "Developments in Organ Music during the Past 20 Years."

1 p.m. - James Darling, P.A. '46, harpsichordist and musical consultant for the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation— "keyboard Music in Colonial America."

4 p.m. - Daniel Pinkham, P.A. '40— "The Practice of Alternatum in the Organ Mass of the 17th Century."

At 8 p.m. Saturday, Phillips Academy organist Carolyn Skelton will give a tour and demonstration of the new Cochran Chapel organ, which is situated in the chapel balcony, and also the new smaller organ in Sylvia Pratt Kemper Chapel.

At 11 a.m. Sunday, the new Cochran Chapel organ will be dedicated in an ecumenical service in Cochran Chapel, featuring music by most of the school's choral and instrumental musical groups.

Wormwood

years," he said, "thank you for your dedication and service."

Tammy Bateson, chairman of the Student Advisory Council, spoke on behalf of the present students, and described Wormwood as a principal with a sympathetic ear and an eagerness to help out.

"He lives well, laughs often and loves much," she said, "and he has gained our affection."

"You should be filled with tremendous pride," she told her principal. "Thank you for all you've done."

Andover High teacher Patsy Cambria came equipped with a blown-up photo of Wormwood when he "bounced" from Tyler

Rubber Co. to the Andover schools in 1951, and a bag of one and two-liners.

He called Wormwood a cross between Robert Redford ("5 percent") and Spencer Tracy ("90 percent"), who is "always involved with students" and who, over the years, has promoted a lot of good programs.

Reflecting on those 30 years, Wormwood said there had been a lot of disappointments and frustrations, but also a lot of positive stimuli. "You don't go dead on the job," he said. "It has its own rewards."

"Education never changed more or faster" than it has in his 30 years here. Wormwood went on, and summed up the 50's as a time of "awakening," the 60's as a "period of dreams," and the 70's as a time of "retrenchment and rethinking..."

when we realized that our dreams went beyond our capabilities."

He predicted that the 80's will bring "great exploration...so many changes that everything that's happened before will seem trivial...because modern technology is pushing forward so rapidly."

And so came his advice to "stay flexible," just before he was confronted by Toastmistress Sally O'Brien with a major choice of his own: to accept an Airedale pup or a brand new canoe as a token of love from his friends.

Larry's Service Specializing In Wheel Alignment

Thirty two years of service and experience are behind all work done at Larry's Service, 665 Haverhill Street, Lawrence. When you bring your car or truck to the mechanics at Larry's you know they've seen it all before and know exactly how to repair your vehicle.

Larry's Service, an Amoco Station, has been owned and operated by Laurent Levasseur for over three decades. Along with Emile Levasseur, Emile, Jr. and Louis Janowski, he offers the public excellent automotive repair work at fair prices. They do tune-ups on all makes and models, brake work, exhaust work, just about any job you need done to keep your vehicle running smoothly and give you maximum fuel efficiency.

Larry's "Specialty" is wheel alignment and he has the special equipment and factory trained men to do the job right. If the wheels on your automobile are not aligned properly, they drag and rob you of precious mileage. When wheels go out of alignment, turning becomes difficult, the car won't roll and tires wear out rapidly. Wise motorists will have their car's front end aligned at least once a year by a specialist.

To assure exact results in wheel alignment, Larry's Service uses the John Bean Acraliner, especially made for accuracy in alignment with a light beam. Skilled technicians operate this complex piece of equipment. Optical measurements from two wheel-mounted precision projectors check front and rear wheels. Projections on a screen measure camber, toe-in, toe-out turns and K.P.I. Then Larry's experts make the necessary adjustments to align your vehicle perfectly.

For an appointment for service or wheel alignment, drive in any time from 7 A.M. to 6 P.M. or Saturdays till noon, at 665 Haverhill Street, Lawrence, or Tel. 687-9447.

tower variance late last year because there is currently no bylaw to allow towers.

Like the radio tower bylaw, the wind tower bylaw would require a special permit from the ZBA, and regulate the quality and safety of the tower. It would also limit noise levels, Johanson said, requiring the noise to be no higher than background level at the lot line.

"That's more restrictive than the noise from lawn mowers or your neighbor's television," he commented.

However, Planning Board Chairman Frank McBride pointed out that lawn mowers run for a short period of time, while wind machines would generate noise around the clock.

Johanson made a case for wind energy as a non-polluting renewable resource that would "reduce our dependency on oil. We don't want off-shore drilling, we don't want refineries and we don't want Seabrook. I think we're at the end of the line here in New England," he told the planners. "We have got to have something to produce electricity. I encourage you to support this article."

High Tech Careers

Widening Opportunity Research Center (WORC) at Middlesex Community College, Springs Road, Bedford, is sponsoring two tuition-free workshops to encourage women and men to consider exploring careers in high technology, which are higher paying and in more demand than the more traditional fields.

The first is "Math Anxiety," on Wednesday, May 20, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the WORC Career Resource Library, North Campus, Division of Community Services building. It will deal with negative attitudes toward math and their causes and the effects on career choice, which will help adults become more comfortable with this aspect of high technology.

The second, "High Technology Career Exploration," will be held Thursday, May 21, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., same place.

Merchants

out Christmas shopping for the merchants," Frank McBride said.

"Once people get used to shopping somewhere else for three or four months, they change their buying habits. It could take the downtown merchants up to a year to recover," McBride added. He indicated that some jobs could be lost if downtown business falls off.

Warn Of Drugged Stamps

Police Chief James Johnson has issued a warning to parents to be sure and check out stamps currently being offered in the community which contain LSD.

The stamps, which contain Walt Disney characters, contain LSD and when either handled or licked, can produce hallucogenic effect.

The stamps had been offered in other areas of the state, in some communities on a widespread basis. A person was arrested by local police this past week and found to have 97 stamps in his possession.

Among the various items which will be on exhibit during police open house Saturday and Sunday, will be sheets of the stamps encased in plastic for protection.

McBride said yesterday that CBD members plan to appear before the selectmen in full force next week to make their case as strongly as possible: "We expect to fill the room with merchants."

The manager recommends the town go along with the federal plans, which have the support of the state highway department, because fighting those plans could take from one to three years. The town would have to hire engineers and consultants to prove the work was unnecessary, he explained: "You can't fight city hall."

Furthermore, Public Works Director Robert McQuade believes the town could not come up with an effective argument against reconstruction, Clark said, even though he feels it is not necessary. "There are good arguments for doing the job right," Clark said.

"The most important priority," the manager indicated, "is to get the project done this year. It's been kicking around for five years now, and we should get it done as quickly as possible."

State highway officials suggested several alternatives the selectmen may consider if they decide against reconstruction. The town could elect to strike Main Street from the project plans, and then pave the street with other funds, possibly from Chapter 90. This would mean abandoning plans to repave Andover Street with Chapter 90 money, the manager said — an option he opposes.

The town could simply replane and repave the street with money from taxation, but "we don't have those tax dollars to spend," Clark reported.

Finally, the town could reconstruct just Elm Square as part of the project, and then accumulate enough Chapter 90 funds to repave Main Street several years from now.
